DETAILED ACTIONClaim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 1, 3-11, 13, and 32-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gray (US 6,019,745) as modified by Kohno et al (US 5,359,379).

Gray discloses in Figures 1 and 3 an ampoule (1) comprising a dispensing end (5) and a distal end (2) comprising a surface perpendicular to an axis along dispensing end, the surface comprising two reference recognition elements (16 and 17) written on predetermined concentric positions on the surface of the ampoule. Furthermore, Gray discloses in columns 6 and 7 the recognitions elements generate one of electrical and magnetic fields of different strengths.

Gray discloses the claimed invention except for the recognition elements being arranged asymmetrically, and at least one reference recognition element situated on different sized concentric circles, with the angular distance between any two positions being different that the angular distance between any other two positions. Kohno et al disclose in Figure 3 that it is known to arrange recognition elements asymmetrically in more than one possible predetermined position on different sized concentric circles (14 and 15). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the system as taught by Gray by arranging recognition elements asymmetrically on different sized concentric circles as taught by Kohno to provide a recognition system for reading and decoding a code on an article.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 2/22/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Gray does not teach an ampoule comprising a surface perpendicular to a central axis comprising a set of recognition elements. Examiner disagrees. Even though Gray refers to projections 2b as finger grips, they are an integral portion of the cylindrical glass barrel, and thus it can be considered that the data carrier devices 2c are mounted on the ampoule of Gray. As to the Kohno reference, Kohno teaches that it is known to use several data recognition elements, at least six, which are arranged asymmetrically relative to ampoule and at different angular distances. Thus, Kohno teaches at least two predetermined configurations which are different from each other from which a user could select from.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
